Controversy Continues Over Building Code

By Joe Pilot, Staff Writer

Adoption of a building code for Hancock County hit a snag on Monday morning when Jerry Ladner, claiming he represented the interest of the people, presented a petition signed by 1,655 persons and asking the Board of Supervisors to call a special election to get the reaction of the people living in outlying areas. Russell Elliott, president of the board, accepted the petition and turned it over to the Election Board of Commissioners to verify qualified voter signatures.

Total vote in outside municipalities is estimated to be between 4,700 and 4,000 people. With a minimum of between 700 and 800 qualified electors signatures needed on a petition to make mandatory a special election.

In a special interview with Ladner this reporter was told that people in the outlying areas did not necessarily object to the adoption of a building code but felt rather that they should have a voice in deciding whether or not to adopt one. Ladner said the people in the rural areas did not trust the Board of Supervisors and objected to the board's prominence in administering a code, if adopted. "The code," stated Ladner, "should be taken out of politics because an unscrupulous supervisor could use it as a political whip."

Ladner said under the proposed code regulations the Board of Supervisors had complete control and could dictate to the people who would be in the contractor and who would be the inspector. He implied that by virtue of their authority members of the Board of Supervisors might hire or fire contractors and inspectors and further said he felt no code could be better than the provisions in the one currently up for adoption.

Alarmed because lack of building code in Hancock County has stifled industrial progress, discouraged residential building, and poses a tremendous increase in insurance rates while at the same time leaving builders and prospective builders unprotected against poor building practices the Hancock County Construction Council together with a representative number of insurance representatives and members of the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce met on Monday night at the Hancock North Central School where Talmadge Rayborn, executive director of the chamber, served as co-ordinator in a question-and-answer session intended to clarify any misconceptions or misinformation persons might have regarding the building code. Response to the meeting was disappointing in that attendance, expected to be in the hundreds, was counted at 52 persons. Somewhere along the line it was felt communications had broken down and persons who should have been informed of the meeting through the Picayune Item, the Picayune radio station and the Sea Coast Echo had not read or heard of the meeting.

Paul Newman, apparent spokesman for a group of the rural people, presented a list of questions said to have been asked him by community citizens. The questions, according to Newman, were typical of those being put to him every day. "Don't misunderstand me," Newman said: "I am for a code. I just want these people to get answers from those who are qualified to answer their questions." Here again, the Board of Supervisors were under a fire of criticism and the pulse of the meeting indicated dire distrust of action of the board. A resident, identifying himself as "Necaise" said "We live out here in the country and we like it. We don't want any city people telling us how to run our business." When Necaise was informed that municipalities of Bay St. Louis and Waveland were operating under a code and the proposed code was designed for the protection of those living in the county and outside of municipalities he stated he was unaware of this.

Delmar Wilcox, speaking for the Construction Council, called upon council members to make a note of all misinformations about the code as indicated by the questions asked and circulate a counter-petition asking the citizens to recall their names removed from Ladner's petition.

Wilcox pointed out the cost of holding a special election. It is said there are 15 ballot boxes to be opened for elections at a cost to the tax payer of approximately $100 per box. This expenditure plus other election expenses would run the cost of a special election in the neighborhood of $2,000. In addition to depleting county funds, should the code be rejected there will not be another opportunity to adopt a building code for a period of two years, it was pointed out.

Detention Center Near Completion

The Hancock County Detention Center is within an estimated 10 days from completion according to Lucien Kidd, supervisor as co-ordinator of building project. In an interview, Kidd said the building will have a consultation room as well as facilities to accommodate up to 12 people. According to the building will be used without the necessity going through the Court House, Kidd said, and rooms can be on duty 24 hours of the day.

Girls' Junior High Approved

Establishment of a Catholic girls' junior high at Our Lady of the Gulf has been approved and plans are being finalized to open the school in September. According to Sister Cynthia, principal of Our Lady of the Gulf, opening of the school will depend on the amount of interest shown by parents. Registration forms are available at O.L.G. and the deadline is March 24.

For over a year the O.L.G. School Board under the direction of Father Gregory Johnson, pastor and former high school principal, has been studying the project with regard to need, financing, curriculum, teaching staff, and facilities available. The school will consist of grades 7, 8, and 9 and will be housed in the gym building which contains ample classroom space. It would be entirely tuition supported and would not demand additional financing from the Parish, apart from the present parish subsidy for 7th and 8th grades.

Students from neighboring parishes will be welcome to register for the 8th grade. The program is designed to compliment existing programs. Because of the proximity to St. Stanislaus, there would be the possibility of using library and lab facilities. Details of collaboration from CSC remain to be discussed.

Charged With Murder

Carlton man was shot dead early Sunday morning Kiln and the Hancock Sheriff's office has a Livingston, La., man in connection with the crime. Sheriff Fred Currit identified dead man as Albert Lee Morris Miller, 26, who had been living in Livingston after he had shot Lee in the home of Gilmour, Kiln. Currit said murder charges had been filed against Miller and he is being held in the Hancock jail without bail.

Investigating officers were Coahoma County coroner E. L. and Deputy Robert Tamm, Travis Lott, state senator for the Mississippi Valley Patrol, is also working the case.

To the Editor
Get Politics out of School
We, the "Senior Class" of Hancock North Central school, feel that we can no longer keep quiet about the indiscriminate political interference in our school. We feel that, at best, the County Superintendent's job is antiquated and outmoded if not useless. As it is presently conducted with an overdose of petty politics included it is a downright ruination of school system, a detriment.

We are interested in our education, the best we can get. We are interested in having a progressive school system that will be second to none in this area, not the lowest rung on the ladder. We are interested in an atmosphere that is conducive to learning, not just serve the political whims of the county Supt. of Education. We are interested in a school that improves its standards each year not retrogressing.

We started out 12 years ago, a group of beginners in a new school. We have seen seven administrators in this short span of years. How could any school or business or any other system improve with such constant turmoil?? We would like to be able to leave this school prepared to go to college, any college of our choice, but only too well we realize that we have been cheated, ruined, start changed by political dicturing and bickering in our school. Now as we look ahead we know, due to our poor foundation, we will be pushed to carry on a course of work at a junior college, much less one of our senior colleges.

It is too late to help us, but the majority of us have brothers and sisters in school and it will be a few short years until many of us will be sending our children to school. We want something better for them. Let's turn Hancock County loose. The best place to start is by getting politics out of our schools.

Sincerely Yours,
HANCOCK NORTH CENTRAL
SENIOR CLASS

Editor, Sea Coast Echo:
I would like to take this opportunity to thank the Jycees for their hard work in putting together the Mardi Gras Day Parade.

Yours truly,
Regina Soldinie

Thanks also to the many groups and individuals who helped to make it an enjoyable as it was.

It is hoped that in the near future a survey will be conducted to derive public opinion and information on next year's carnival celebration.

As We See It

Congratulations to Bay St. Louis officials for fixing the traffic light on Main and Second.

Don Jackson, Mayor, has given to getting a four-way stop sign at Eastbrook and Tolman Streets. This is a dangerous intersection and stops taken now could prevent a serious accident.

Hancock residents should visit the court house and notice the renovations that have been made. Compliments to the supervisors for a job well done.

Although the beach road has not been repaired, perhaps county officials could at least keep the beaches clean. Summer is almost upon us and both local residents and visitors alike will want to take advantage of the warm weather. Beaches, sand and debris are only the beach's unsightly but hazardous.

GAME OF THE YEAR - Linament was the order of the day Friday following annual St. Stanislaus Sideline Club -- Bay High Boosters basketball fracas Thursday night in Tigerdome won 71-60. Despite many bald heads and pot bellies, game was a corker and drew several hundred fans who turned out to see such stars as Brother Phillip, former athletic director of SSC and former BH coach Wimpy Seymour among others. Snatching rebound was BH coach Willie Bradley while Barry Jones, No. 32, and Greg Quinlan, No. 22, practice new dance step. (Echo staff photo by Engelhorn.)

Eddie's Angles

By Eddie Engelhorn

CONGRATULATIONS JOHNNY

Mr. & Mrs. John (Gale) Scafide, one of many nominees, has been selected to the National Football Hall of Fame and will receive his Distinguished American trophy at a banquet to be given by the Gulf Coast Chapter of the National Football Foundation and Hall of Fame in the Terrace Room of the Cinema Vista Hotel on Thursday, March 25.

Activities start at 7:30 p.m., and tickets will be on sale soon at all three local banks, the Merchants Bank and Trust Company, Hancock Bank and Gulf National Bank. They are only $6 each. Attending will be notable from six counties and other guests will be from points as far as New York.

Jimmy (Red) McDowell, former sports writer for the Jackson Daily News and present secretary and public relations official for the National Hall of Fame at New York City will fly in for the occasion to serve as master of ceremonies.

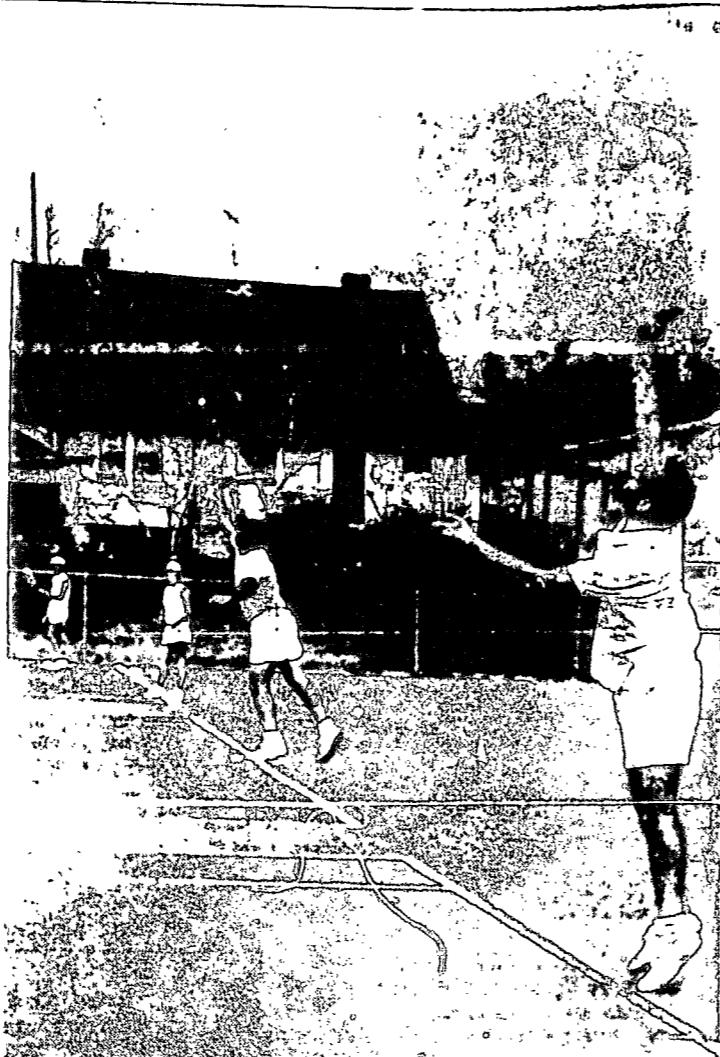

Richard (Dick) Thamess, a former athlete in his own right and who is in the Hall of Fame at the University of Southern Mississippi, is handling local preparations and said:

"Scafide plays the game of life exactly the way he played the game of football; with fairness, with ability, with talent and with a strong desire to be a winner."

"His training on the gridirons of the nation prepared him for a leadership role in life. After college, the U.S. Navy and various coaching positions, he ran for mayor of Bay St. Louis, was elected and served 16 consecutive years."

"Under his administration hundreds of projects were concluded. One of the most notable was the creation of a Parks and Playgrounds Commission, which set about providing recreation facilities for the youngsters of his community."

And Thamess knows his football player — he coached at St. Stanislaus and the U.S. Navy at the Pensacola Pre-Flight School. He is now on the board of directors of the chapter and is a member of the selection committee for outstanding athletes of this area. Other officials are Dr. Edson McCabe of Mississippi City, chapter president; Rocky Byrd of Pascagoula, former Ole Miss quarterback; vice-president and incoming president Homer Dedeaux of Gulfport; Frank Branca of Long Beach, former Ole Miss quarterback and Thamess.

BABY'S CAREER

Scafide was born in Bay St. Louis, the son of Italian immigrants. He was on the first string team at St. Stanislaus for three years and then went to Tulane where he played guard on the school's best team, going to the Super Bowl. He was named the All-Southern football team and later to the All-American Camp's American first team, the highest honor achievable at that time.

In his senior year he was elected captain of the Tulane team again made the All-Southern team. They forged him Baby and not only because he looked like a pint-sized baby just as hard to move. He was named to the Rose Bowl All-American team.

A Tulane teammate, Nollie Felts, also an All-American, and Scafide was no doubt the best standing guard in football history. The Tulane yearbook said:

"Built like a box-car this Italian powerhouse was a huge man in the side of every opposing eleven. He charged like a truck in low gear and the yardage over Baby Grand's chin was scarce as hen's teeth."

After college Scafide signed with the Boston Redskins but broken ankle put him out of business and he turned to coaching such schools as Bay High, St. Stanislaus and Pearl River Junior College. He was in the U.S. Navy from 1942 until '45. His career also included coaching at several Naval Pre-Schools.

Markham Restoration Preserves Former Charm

By Joe Pilet, Feature writer

The Old Markham Hotel has been rejuvenated! Stately and elegant this structure, built in 1927, served the Gulf Coast as a meeting place, eating place, dancing and dining place, community house, and landmark for many years. Then the old building went through a period of retrogression — the deterioration almost imperceptibly gradual before both coast folks and visitors admitted the old girl had become downright dowdy! What a shame, in her youth she had been so popular, gay and attractive. Like other oldsters, it seemed wise to consider retirement.

Then a present day miracle happened! Surely someone connected with the developers, Security Savings and Loan Association, must have a Ph.D. in Restoration of Aged Edifices with a term paper or possibly a thesis on Therapeutic in Restaurant Modernization. Recognizing her potential worth, the developers literally put the old girl through the beauty-bath course and she has emerged charming, poised, self-confident and looking both gracious and well cared for. With dignity she has returned to her role as hostess to visitors and friends of long standing.

There were, of course, specialized consultations. It was decided by the architects to preserve as much of the 1927 Era of Charm as possible and bring out the good points in her features. Those were the guide lines used in renovation and restoration of the eight-story structure located on the corner of 14th street and 23d avenue in Gulfport called MARKHAM HOTEL.

On Monday the matron Martham, took a bow. Claude S. Bourgeois presented the Martham Restaurant, a new concept in restaurant service, the establishment has a hand-picked and well trained staff of 45 persons. The dining room features two large lazy Susan revolving top type tables where guests may help themselves to "old-fashioned home cooking".

Menu for other tables includes a gourmet seafood dish daily, a secretarial lunch, a dietic section for weight-watchers or

Leroy Luke At Third Base

Mike Neagle is in his last year at William Carey College of Hattiesburg but you will be reading a lot about that school in these pages for years to come.

Leroy Luke, well known on the baseball, Louis and other areas, has signed up with care and while baseball coach John O'Keefe wouldn't comment Luke looks like a shoo-in at third base for the Crusaders even though he is only a first-year junior. He said he is looking forward to a strong season and possibly post-season tournaments which he is well pleased with team morale and attitude at this early stage. Carey opens its season March 15 against the University of Southern Mississippi.

The Crusaders began the season without the services of only three members of the '71 team. Outfielder Chuck Harlan and pitching ace Bill Collins were lost to graduation and pitcher Bill Kouns signed a professional baseball contract with the Boston Red Sox and is ineligible from NAIA competition.

He will serve as assistant coach this season. The initial will be led by GREG PRESNELL, former St. Stanislaus football great and now a sophomore at Samford University, has been lettered for outstanding play on 1970 varsity football team. Presnell is offensive guard.

The initial will be led by

Guild Meeting

Day of the Gulf Meeting Thursday afternoon at Parish Hall with Laroux, president, and the business session.

Mr. Haynes, treasurer while Very Rev. Greeson, pastor, noted a gift will be made in the Sister Evelyn of New Orleans' name.

The possibility of a new hall on the side of the church was discussed.

At the meeting a social with Mesdames Mac, Lucien Gex and Robert as hostesses, was held.

The next meeting will be held April 5 in the home of Mrs. Ruby Bennett in Bay St. Louis.

Jaycees Of The Month

One of the aims of the club is to obtain the names of 20 ladies interested in a first aid course. When the required number for a class is reached the program will get underway it was announced.

Mrs. Frank Corcoran, president, gave a demonstration on making flowers with burlap and modeled a dress she made.

International program chairman, Mrs. Bertha Augustine, read a letter from Mrs. Harris Carmichael, State International chairman, encouraging all club members in the county to write letters to the Hanoi Government asking that they give humane treatment to those they are holding as prisoners of war. Form letters, from which copies can be made, will be sent upon request.

The Club's special project for 1971 is the "Pattern Project." Plastic patterns are being provided for women learning to sew in the newly developing countries.

Harvey Will Open New Theatre Season

First production of the 1971 season at the Bay St. Louis Little Theatre will be the comedy "Harvey," which is being directed by Mrs. Caroline Klefer, long one of the local theatre's most successful directors. The show is tentatively scheduled for presentation in late April and is currently under rehearsal, though one or two roles have not yet been filled. Interested persons should contact the director.

Since its opening on Broadway in 1944, "Harvey" has been a favorite with both theatre and movie audiences, and its selection by the board of directors was a happy choice for opening the second quarter-of-a-century of this Little Theatre's history . . . perhaps just the "rabbit's foot" needed to assure an outstanding season. Mrs. Klefer, fresh from winning laurels as director of "You Can't Take It With You" (voted best play of the 1970 season), has selected several of the cast from that play for parts in "Harvey." She was fortunate, too, in securing the services of John Schott for set construction, so from several aspects "Harvey" (and we don't mean the six-foot rabbit) is off and running.

St. Clare's CYO Events

St. Clare's CYO will hold a folk Mass, Sunday March 21, 1971 at 11:00 a.m. During Mass there will be installation of officers.

St. Clare's is gathering clothes for the Mississippi Delta tornado victims. The deadline is March 29. Please bring all clothes to the back of the church.

St. Clare's CYO is gathering non-perishable foods for Easter Baskets. The baskets will be given to the older people of the parish so they may have a happy Easter. Please bring all non-perishable foods to the back of the church. The deadline is April 4, 1971.

Jim Chiniche, was voted Jaycee of the Month for February for an outstanding job on project J.I.M.S. (Jaycee International Medical Service). He alone collected over 200 lbs of medical supplies which will be used in Vietnam, and other parts of the world where medical supplies are needed.

Girl Scouts Present Friendship Program

The Neighborhood Girl Scout International Friendship Program presented recently in the Bay Junior High School Auditorium to an audience of about 300 invited guests which strongly stressed the world-wide values and unity of the scouting program.

Scout Girl Scouts serving as mistresses of ceremony were Gayle Longo and Patti Brumley while the program included girls from all levels of scouting. In traditional scouting fashion there was a flag ceremony, a pledge of allegiance and singing of America the Beautiful prior to the welcoming speech and presentation of the program including the story of the Four World Centers for Girl Scouting. The Centers are "Our Chalet", the Switzerland house, "Save House," belonging to the World Association of Girl Guides and Girl Scouts and located on Lincoln Street in London. "Our Cabana" located near Guernica in the State of Morelos about 40 miles from Mexico City, and "Sangam" India. The site in England was performed by Troop 292, Switzerland by Troop 275, Mexico by Troop 132 and San Cam India by Troop 414.

The audience, through the well-thought out program, learned a great deal about scouting and the history of the "World Song" - ALL, and of the gifts for the International Friendship Fund.

Girl Scouts every year have an international exchange program in which some 400 to 500 scouts and guides participate. About half of the participants are from the United States, 50 to 65 countries around the world and 150 to 175 Girl Scout councils across the USA are usually involved. Some exchange events are held in the USA, some in the world association residential program centers, so well depicted in the Saturday program. Participants share widely with Girl Scouts and the community what they gain from their experiences such as new ideas, techniques, skills and especially enthusiasm! Girl Scouts and Girl Guides through their international program have broadened their thinking and believe that world peace can best be achieved through world friendships which might well start with scouting in Bay St. Louis.

The founder of the guides,

Lady Baden Powell said "International friendship begins in your home or community, when you first know and respect people of many nationalities, faiths, and races -- whose languages, customs, beliefs, clothes, foods may differ from yours." And America's Girl Scout founder, Juliette Low said "Scouting and Guiding can be the magic thread which links the youth of the world together."

An outstanding display of flags of many countries of the world together with the costumes used in the program on Saturday highlighted the international theme of the scouting program.

ONE OF THE participants in the Friendship Program held recently at Bay Junior High Auditorium was Girl Scout Troop #132 from Our Lady of the Gulf School. This group presented a Mexican dance in keeping with the world-wide theme of the program.

Vandals Defacing Religious Shrines

For over 25 years hundreds of persons have visited and prayed at combined Lourdes and Agony grotto on St. Augustine campus.

Father Leonard J. Olivier, S.V.D., rector, stated "Individuals who 20 years ago enjoyed visiting these religious spots have come back here on later trips and asked to see them again and whisper a prayer. We complaints have been made, Father continued, about children and others taking puppies and crayfish that inhabit small water ponds leading from the Lourdes Shrine. Complaints have also been made concerning littering in the pond area with buckets, old nets and sticks when they come on the property and against climbing atop the grotto and breaking skylights which allow daylight into the stone structure.

"After faces of statues in the grotto, which were defaced, were cleaned and in order to prevent similar horrible incidents from recurring, the entrances to the grotto," Father Olivier said, "were fitted with locked iron gates which would be unlocked when requested for visits and then relocked. This, Father added, "has not proved to be a safeguard as the lock has been wrenched from the gates several times."

The Seminary had planned to redecorate the interior of the Agony grotto by painting the dishonored statues and replacing some of the broken items, "but as things stand it seems a waste of time and energy to embark on a venture of restoration," Father Olivier stated. Seven lamp posts which help light the campus in the early evening were recently smashed and the lamps wrenched from the posts almost beyond repair, he added.

"Where does one go from here?" Father concluded.

Hancock Bank Holds Stockholders Meeting

Leo W. Seal Jr., president of Hancock Bank, presided over the bank's 72nd annual stockholders meeting at 7:30 p.m., Wednesday (February 24) in the lobby of the Gulfport bank.

In his report to stockholders, Mr. Seal said "The year just concluded was certainly one of the most significant in your bank's seventy-one year history. It was one in which we reached and passed several milestones."

"The most notable, perhaps, was the continued growth in resources to the extent that we became the Mississippi Gulf Coast's first $100 million financial institution."

Mr. Seal, in behalf of the board of directors, expressed appreciation to the customers, stockholders, officers, supervisors and staff for their loyalty and efforts which have made the bank's growth and success possible.

Concerning the area's comeback following Camille, he pointed out that in 1970 most facets of the economy of the coast moved along in a robust fashion. He said that 1971 should be a good year for the Coast because of new and expanded industries, a backlog in the construction trades, the Port of Gulfport and the seafood industry returning to more normal operations.

Also with the improvement of damaged highways and the addition of tourist facilities, he said the tourist industry should fare much better.

Continuing his report, Mr. Seal said that the bank is one of the major employers in Hancock and Harrison counties with a payroll last year in excess of $2 million, providing work for more than 350 persons.

He also said during 1970 the bank's Gulfport office was extensively renovated to include complete new quarters for the commercial and installment loan departments, trust department, marketing division and administrative offices.

Discussing new services offered during the year, he pointed out the use of BankAmericard for paying city and county taxes, water bills and other fees; free checking account plans; and increased computer services extended to customers.

He reported that the bank's travel department was singled out by a major airline as one of the "top ten agencies" in its Deep South division.

A moment of silence was observed in memory of Norman Renshaw, advisory director from Bay St. Louis, and Wayne Scarborough, a bank security guard, both of whom died during 1970.

All of the bank's board and

City To Purchase Copying Machine

The Mayor and City Commissioners of Bay St. Louis voted recently at their regular meeting to advertise for bids on a copying machine. Currently workers in the City Hall are using a copying machine owned by the Kerox Corporation and rented for $80 per month. In addition to the rental charge there is an added cost for supplies used in connection with the unit. It was felt by the commissioners that it would be a savings to the city to own a machine outright, rather than pay rent continuously.

Copying machines are said to be in daily use in all departments at the City Hall.

The ideal way to heat your home is with a clean, quiet, dependable electric heating system. There's little maintenance, and you'll enjoy the economy of a heating system that has a long, long life.

More families than ever are "warming up" to electric heat because a choice of five different heating systems provides maximum flexibility to meet each family's individual comfort requirements.

And owners of established homes are discovering that the solution to the problem of chills, drafts, or sudden hot blasts is converting their old fashioned systems to flameless electric heating systems.

out where the beef begins

The story of the tender, delicious steaks and roasts you serve all began a long time ago. It is part and parcel of our American Heritage.

When the Spanish first came to Florida and the lands around the Gulf of Mexico they brought their cattle with them—the fabled Red and White Andaluzian. As the mission stations of the hooded padres spread northward, so did their herds of tall, long horned beef. They found the climate and the endless prairies of grass to their liking.

These were the forebears of the herds that would plod the long miles up the trails from Texas,—the Chisholm and the Goodnight, the Western and the Shawnee trails—across the Florida panhandle to the states of the Deep South, across the sea-like Kansas plains to the little “cow-towns” on the railroads. They bore the brands of pioneer cattlemen whose marks would live in history—the far-flung XIT, the Lazy Z, the Matador Ranch’s 50, the Diamond D and many others.

In the 1870’s the new railroads had stretched their steel out from Kansas City and St. Louis—the Kansas Pacific R.R., the “Katy” and the “Santa Fe” and suddenly, around the flickering cook-fires, names like Junction City, Abilene, Newton, and Dodge City became important.

The great herds poured, bawling and lowing, into the railroad shipping pens and along a dozen dusty

Main Streets the silver dollars and the tiny pianos tinkled an ode to a new prosperity for cattlemen, who “wore their trouser legs outside their Justin boot.” A sure sign a man had sold his beef.

Rustlers plagued the early cattlemen, and out of their need for protection grew the stockmen’s great associations which still exist today and have made such a great contribution to the Industry.

From these associations, too, came the drive to improve the herds through selective breeding. From Herefordshire, England, for instance, stockmen all over the Southeast imported a white-faced, reddish animal that helped to change beef cattle from gaunt, stringy, wide-horned steers to the sleek, well-formed, short-horned animals we know today.

The Beef People, at Winn-Dixie, are very conscious of this heritage of ours and of the contribution made to our well-being by the hundreds of forgotten range riders, trail bosses and cattle breeders who helped to build this great Industry.

In succeeding messages we are going to talk more about beef. We want you to know as much about Beef as we do. So we have tried to start you off in the right direction—riding up the trail to Abilene with a herd of long-horned cattle!

“beef, we want you to know as much about it as we do.”

KANTCHA KETCHUM

By L.S. (Doc) Elliott

It will be good when the month of March is over as far as fishing goes. We are still having some cool nights and warm during the day. For fresh water fishing three or four days in a row is excellent. As usual the rains of the other day are keeping most streams on the dirty side which is also detrimental to real fishing. However, perch and green trout are being caught as said before, where any good water can be found.

As for salt water fishing it also isn't too good. Very few speckles, reds, flounders are being caught. Seems as though the speckles have not come in as yet.

Regarding soft crabs and flounders, have not heard of any being gotten. Saw a light or two out one night last week. Shouldn't be long before they will give. When soft crabs and flounders appear you will see plenty lights out from from Cedar Point to Bayou Caddo.

There are very few hard crabs being caught if any. If any are no hard crabs, naturally there can't be any soft crabs. See what I mean?

Saw a couple of men going after frogs the other night. They seem they have been getting few. The season on frogs in Louisiana is closed during months of April and May. Your frogging in Mississippi. There is no closed season.

Believe it or not. Most salt water fish are being caught on surface baits, on the rod. Caught some beautiful blue gills and goggle-eye over in Louisiana over the week end. They will be caught here, but when the water gets right.

Among those getting perch and bass were Johnny and Miss Amella Scafide, Sunday afternoon. Miss Amella loves any kind of fishing and is always ready to go. She catches 'em too.

Was glad to meet another guy named Elliott. Wm. Charbonneau is an electrician and enjoys fishing and hunting.

Jay Rutledge and Eward Sotter besides being fishermen and hunters, are aviators. When not on land or water, they are in the air enjoying flying.

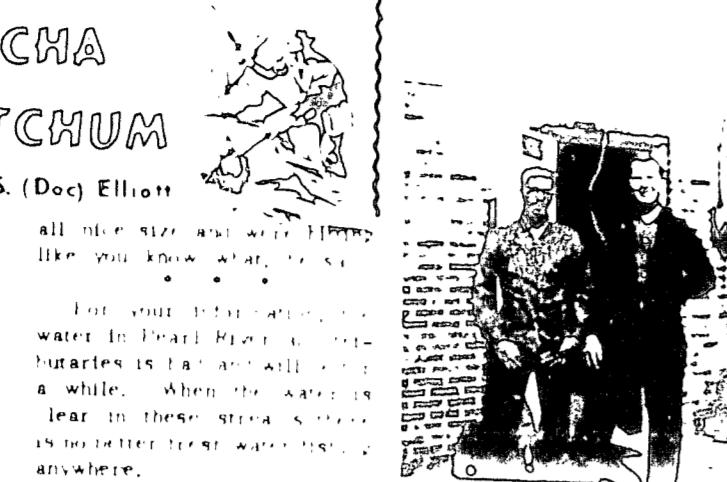

Made another boo-boo last week when I had Al Seelye as a real Irishman. It should have been Clayton Seelye. How could one get?

A mighty good gadget to keep in tackle box is a sharp hook with a pin point for making holes in pork rind to be when using a black gnar spinner. Force the hook on the pork rind and the in the hook won't let the hind come off.

Jack Sotter with operation is a golfer. He is an actor for the association plays at Pass Christian and Edgewater Golf Course. Pretty good, too.

McCullough is a carpenter and has fished all his life. Works with John Ploue, Enfield.

Uncle Baldy Mau caught some nice fresh fish Sunday. They were

'Irishmen' Will Stage St. Patrick's Parade

If the luck of the Irish prevails, and a bright sun sky is the order of the day, estimates are that between $1,000 and 10,000 persons will converge on the small Mississippi coastal town of Waveland for the eighth annual St. Patrick's Day, Saturday, March 20.

The 20th is not St. Patrick's Day, but by tradition the parade has always been held either the Saturday before, or the Saturday after the actual St. Patrick's Day. It also so happens that the expanding Waveland Civic Association, which is the sponsor of the annual event, is not composed of Irishmen only, but on the day of the parade every single member of the Civic Association is an Irishman and will wear the traditional green fancy, the green sash and the green tie, even if the cap of Italy is on his face or whether he found his way into the Association after a child hood spent in Louisiana or Mississippi bayous.

Parade estimates vary according to who is making the prediction. Terry Feeney, the president, insists he has been given secret information that the day will be bright and the crowd will be about 10,000. Al Bernard, whose "Irish" lineage may be subject to question is the president and seems to be more conservative figure of 6,000. Mel Villere, Chairman of the Parade Committee, insists on his "Irish" background and says the crowd will be greater than 10,000. Sam Blanchard, chairman of the Reception and Entertainment Committee, makes only one prediction - that anyone competing either for the parade or for the dance which follows at 9 o'clock, for members and guests, will have a good time.

Archie Metbold, secretary, says only that someone should catch a doublet since more than 15,000 were sold to the marching Civic Club members. Bob Warner, the Parade Marshal, says the parade will start promptly at 2:00 p.m. from Civic and Central Avenue, follow a course along Central Avenue to Coleman Avenue then past the reviewing stand, out to the beach and over to Lafitte Street, back to Central and then again to Coleman. Civic Association floats include one for the Queen (Queen), one for the leprechauns, and one called Paddy's Pad. Paddy's Pad is designed to have beverage requirements for thirsty civic club members. A beverage master will ride, but the contestants to whom will be onboard ship has not been decided and probably won't be until after the parade. Harry O'Neill of New Orleans and Waveland, who arranged the beverages, says he may be called upon at the last moment to make the decision as to the beverage master. O'Neill admits that he has heard of many conspiracies and some plot stuffing for this job.

Other participants in the parade include four members of the Board of Supervisors - Joe Hayes, Charles Russ, Peck Murray and Dolph Kellar, who ride in one car. Russell Scott, President of the Supervisors, will march with the guard of American Legion Post 139 of Bay St. Louis. The mardis, all relatives of Civic Club members, will be open convertibles. The second segment will consist of at least two marching units, one from Bay High, and from Hancock North.

The Gulf Coast Regional Planning Commission has created a new Executive Committee, as recommended by Mr. Bill Hill, newly-selected chairman of the commission.

Mr. Hill explained the reasons for reconstituting the board, at the new committee, which brings to six the number of standing committees of the commission, citing the rapid pace of events during the months just past and planned during the year ahead which make it essential that there be a small group, representative of the entire composition of the commission, and intimately familiar over a long period of time with commission activities, which can be convened on short notice when policy center arises requiring prompt attention and reaction. This new Executive Committee, he explained, will have no more authority than the entire commission, but will be empowered to consider and formulate courses of action for the Executive Director, pending consideration by the full commission.

In making appointments to the new Executive Committee, Mr. Hill stated that he had fully reviewed the potential appointees as to tenure with the commission, the demonstrated perception of the role and objectives and action participation.
